

View of the Skateraw substation consideration from the A1 road

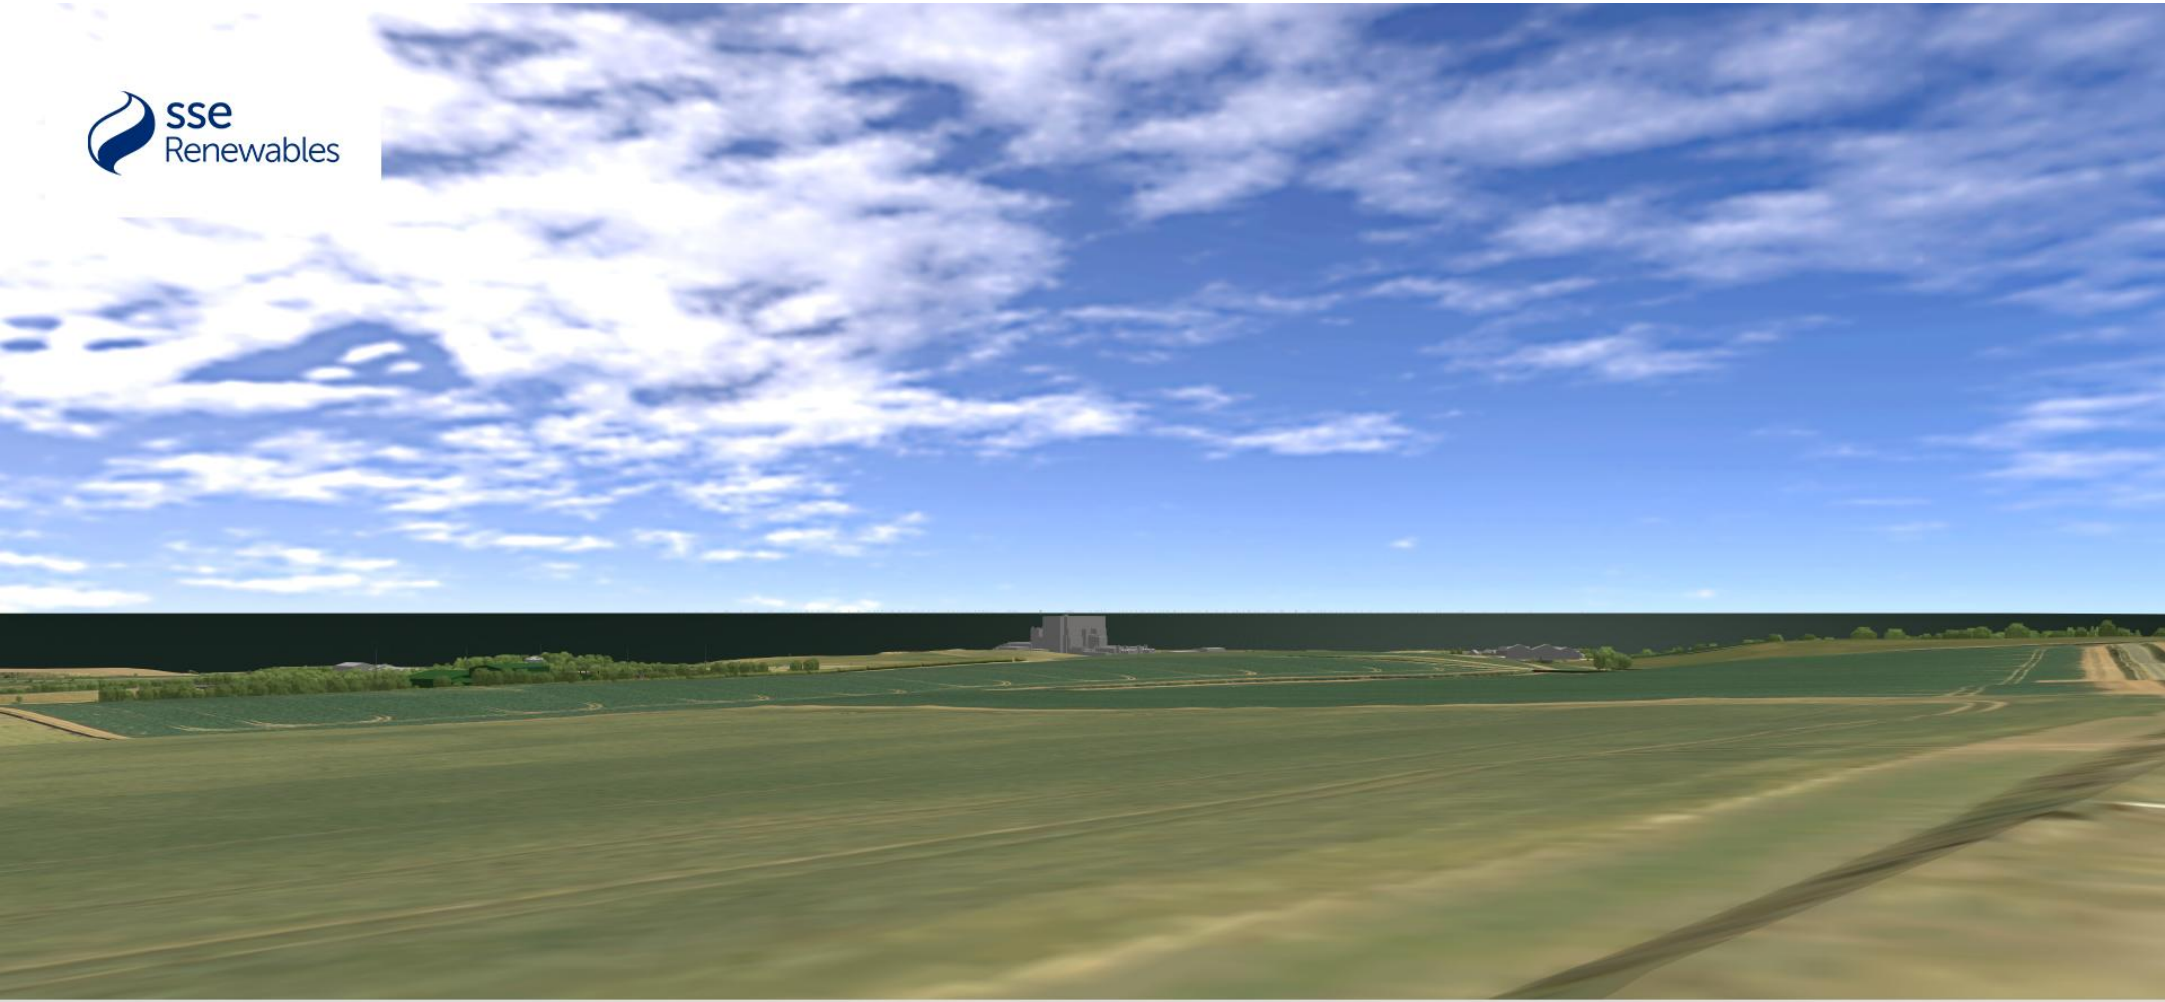

View of the Thorntonloch substation consideration from the A1 road

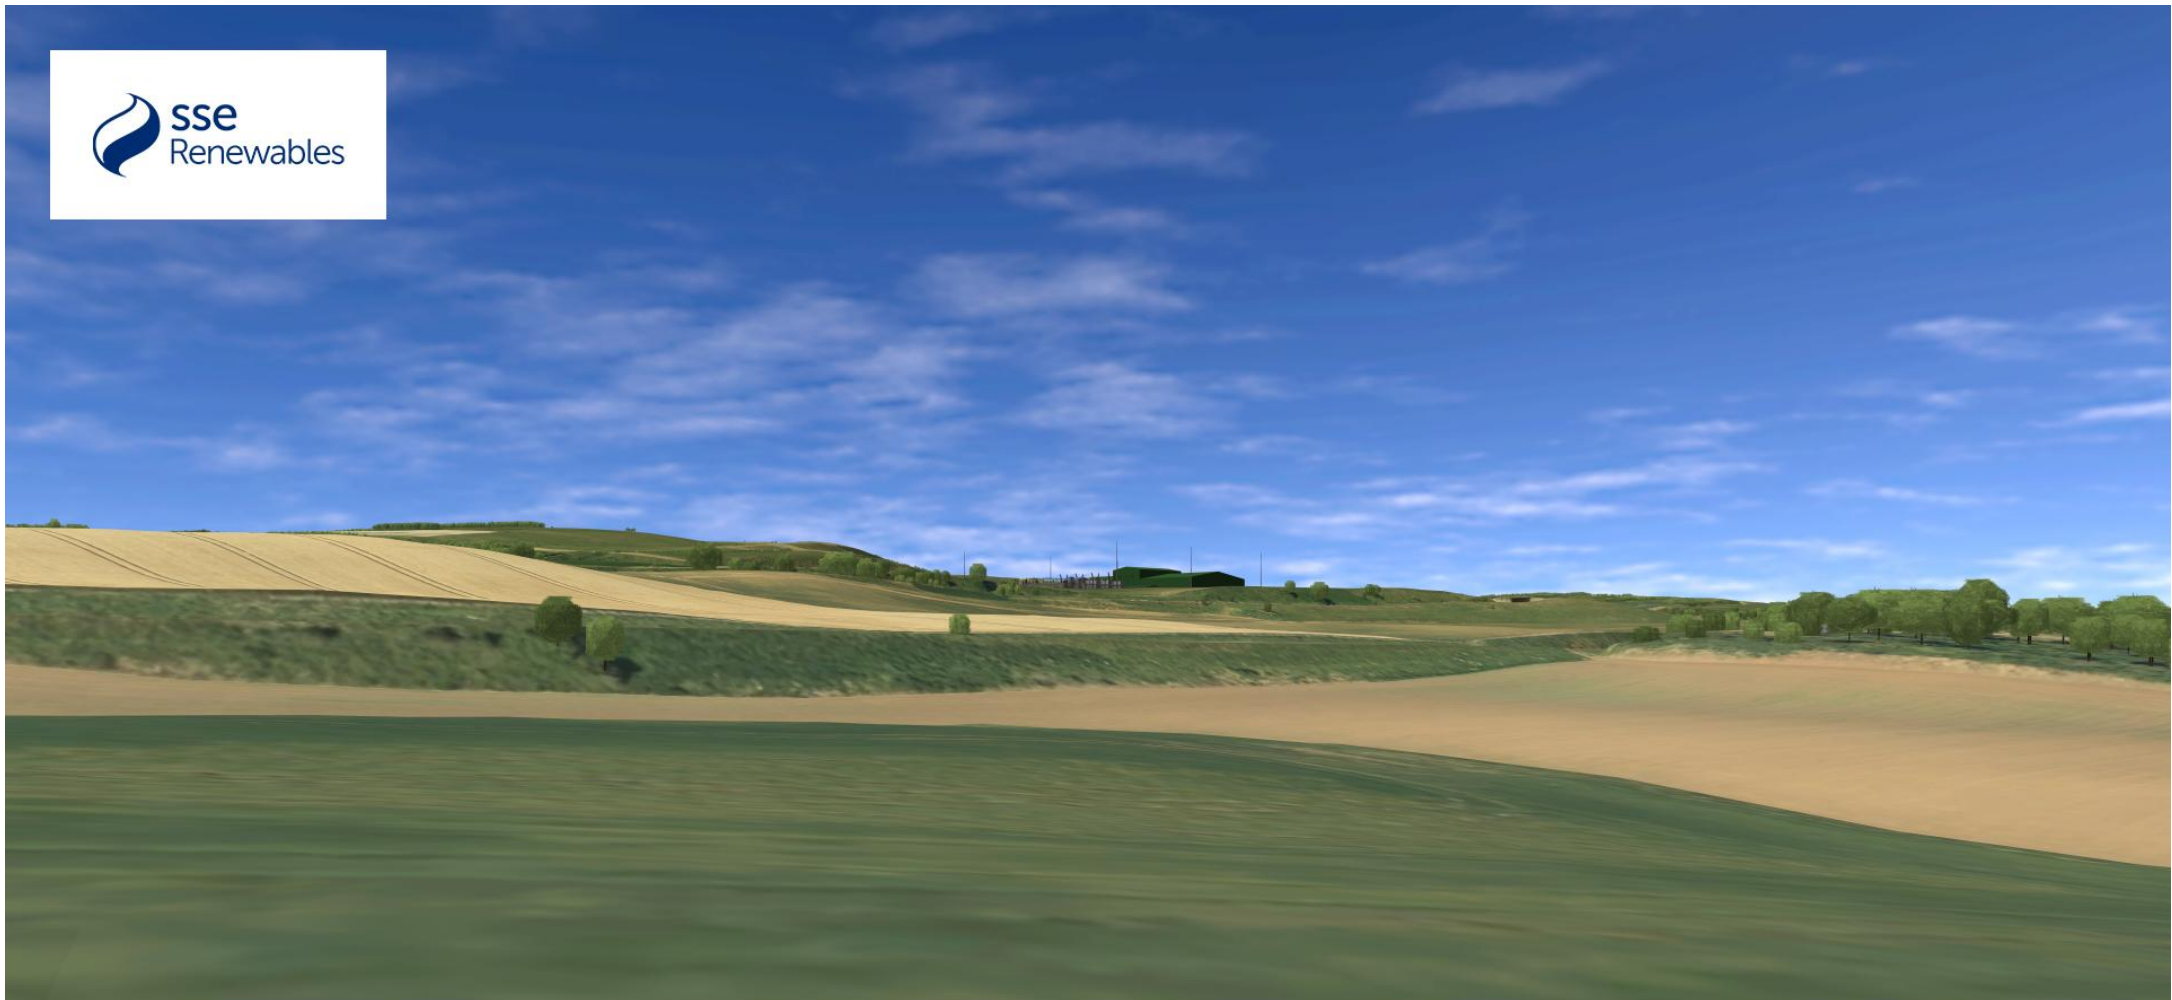

View of the offshore turbines and substation considerations from Blackcastle Hill

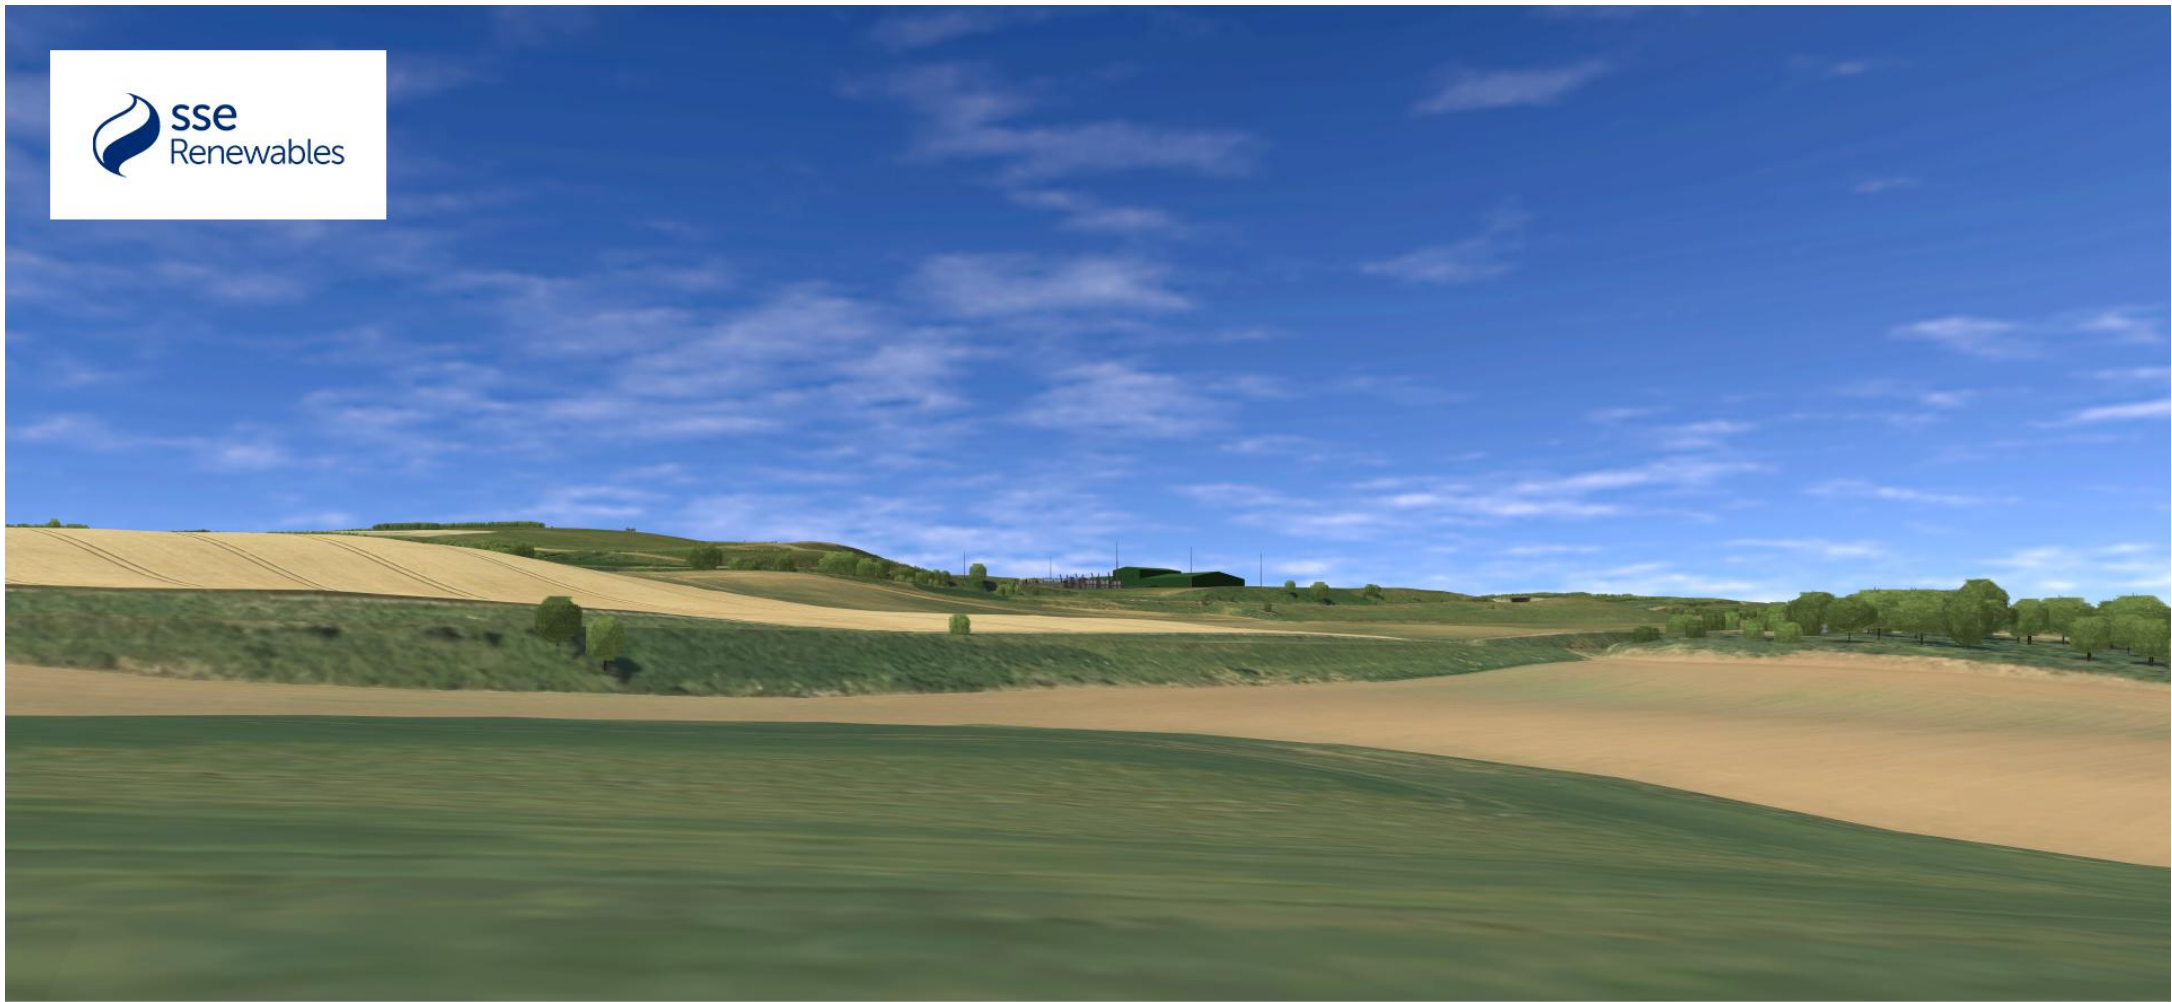

View of the offshore turbines and substation considerations from Innerwick

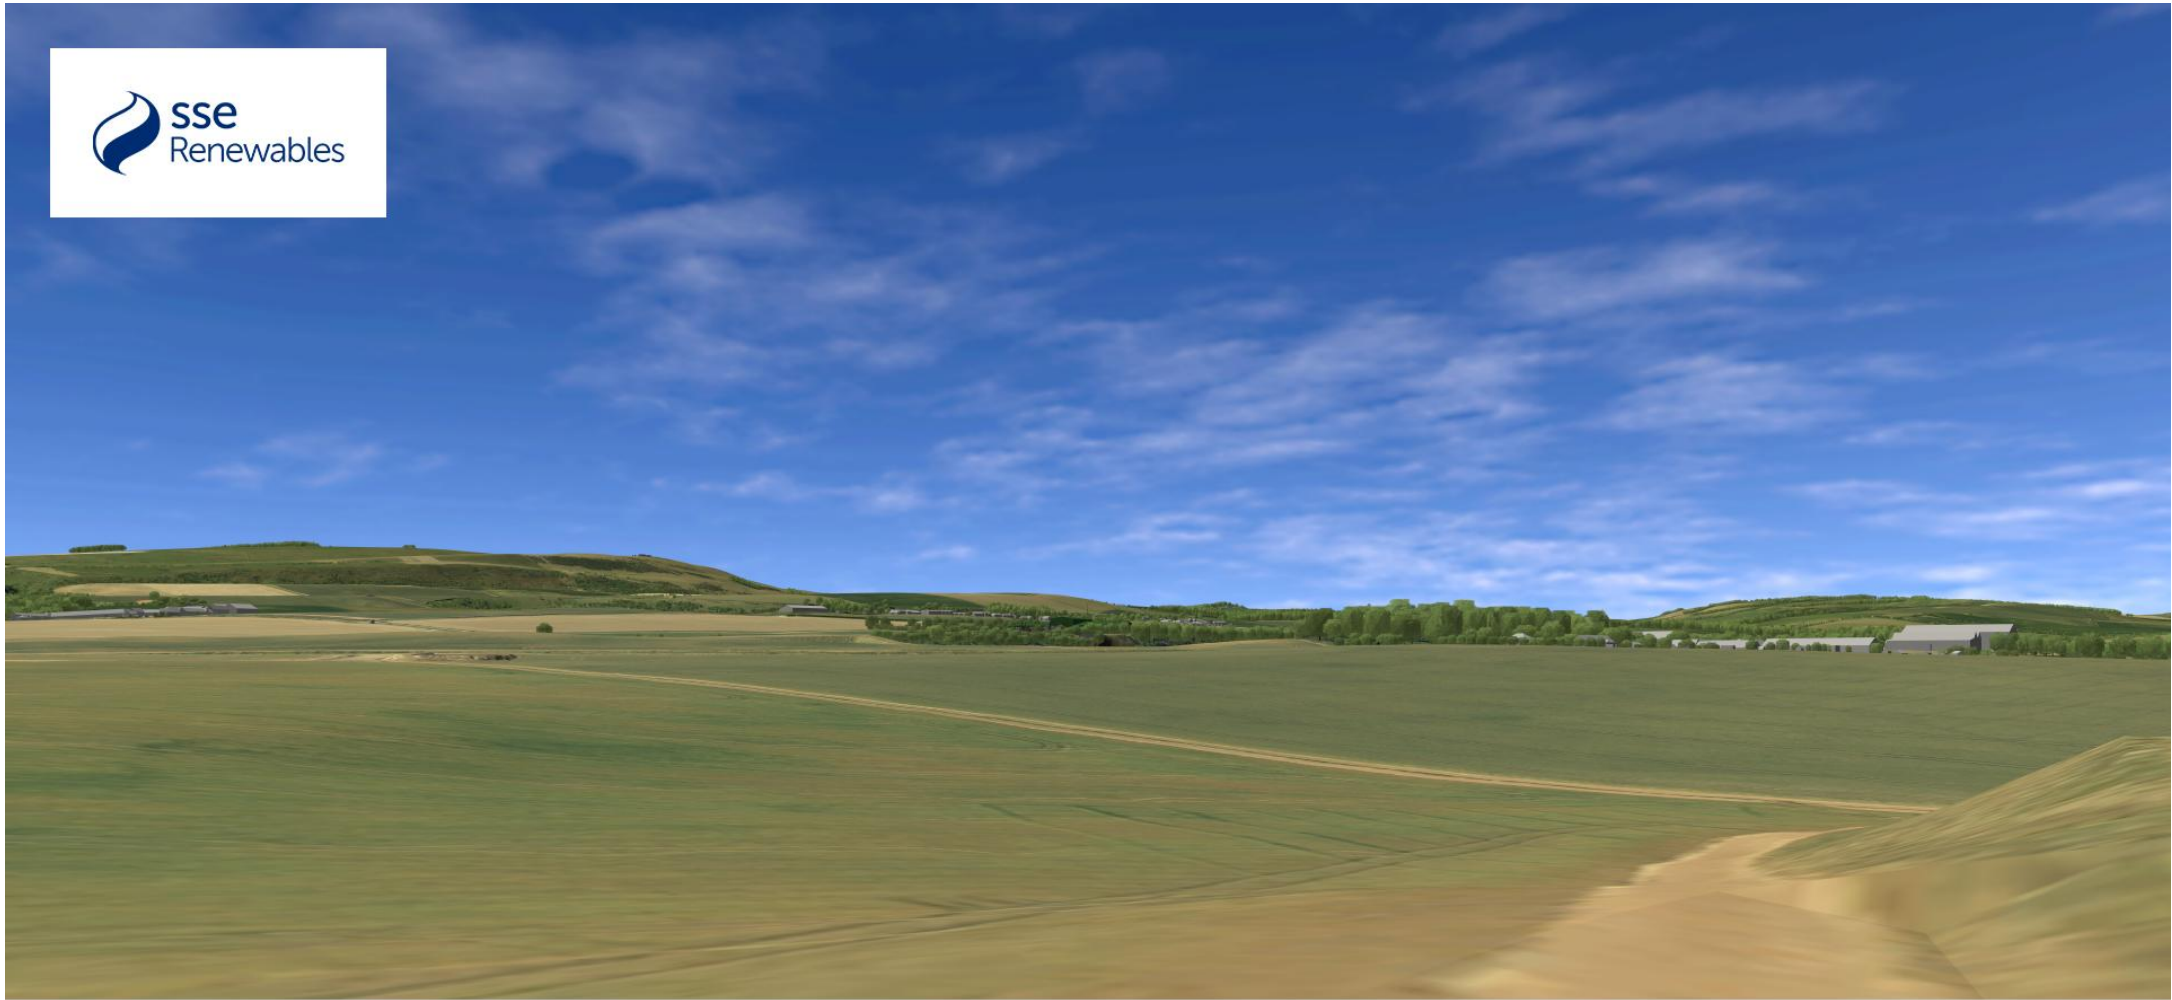

View of Thorntonloch Holdings substation from the John Muir Way

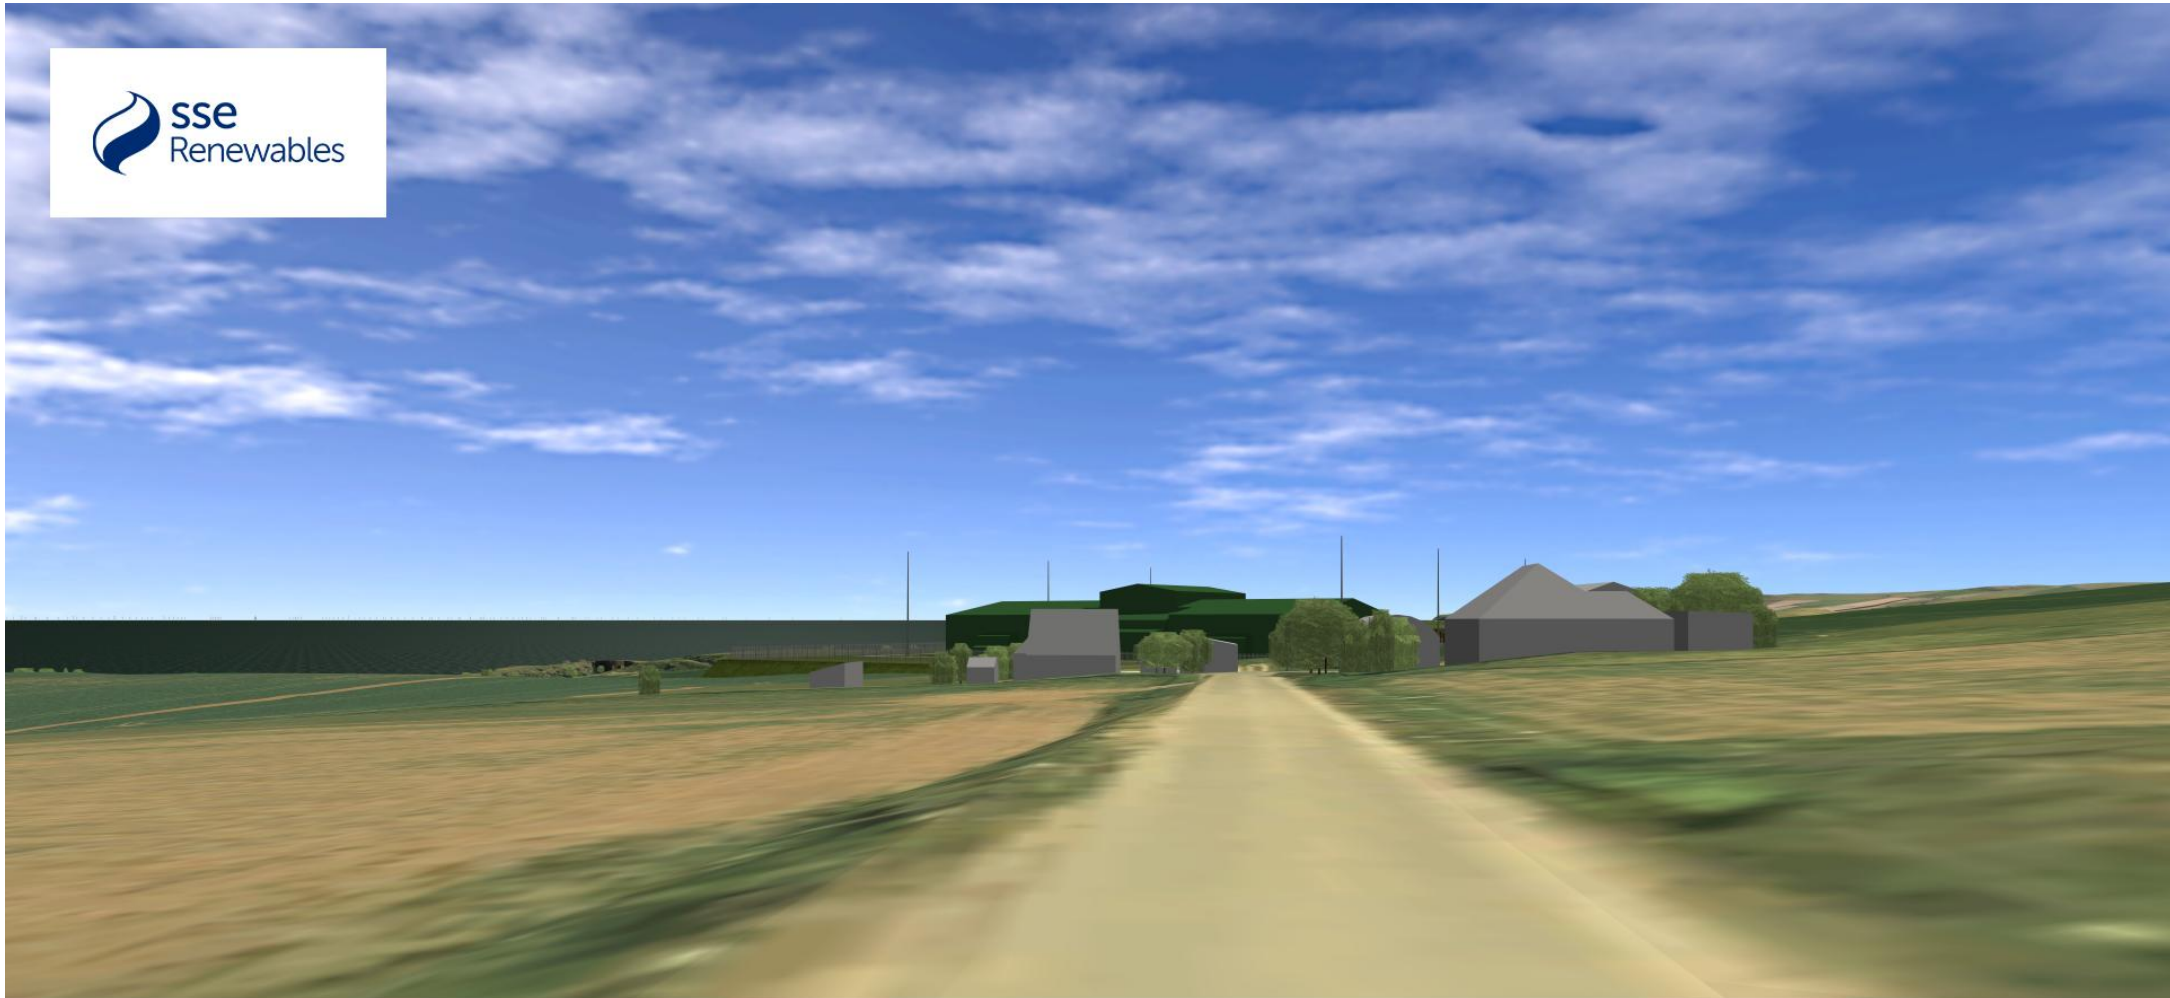

View of Thorntonloch Holdings substation from the John Muir Way

View of the Skateraw substation consideration from the John Muir Way near Skateraw Harbour

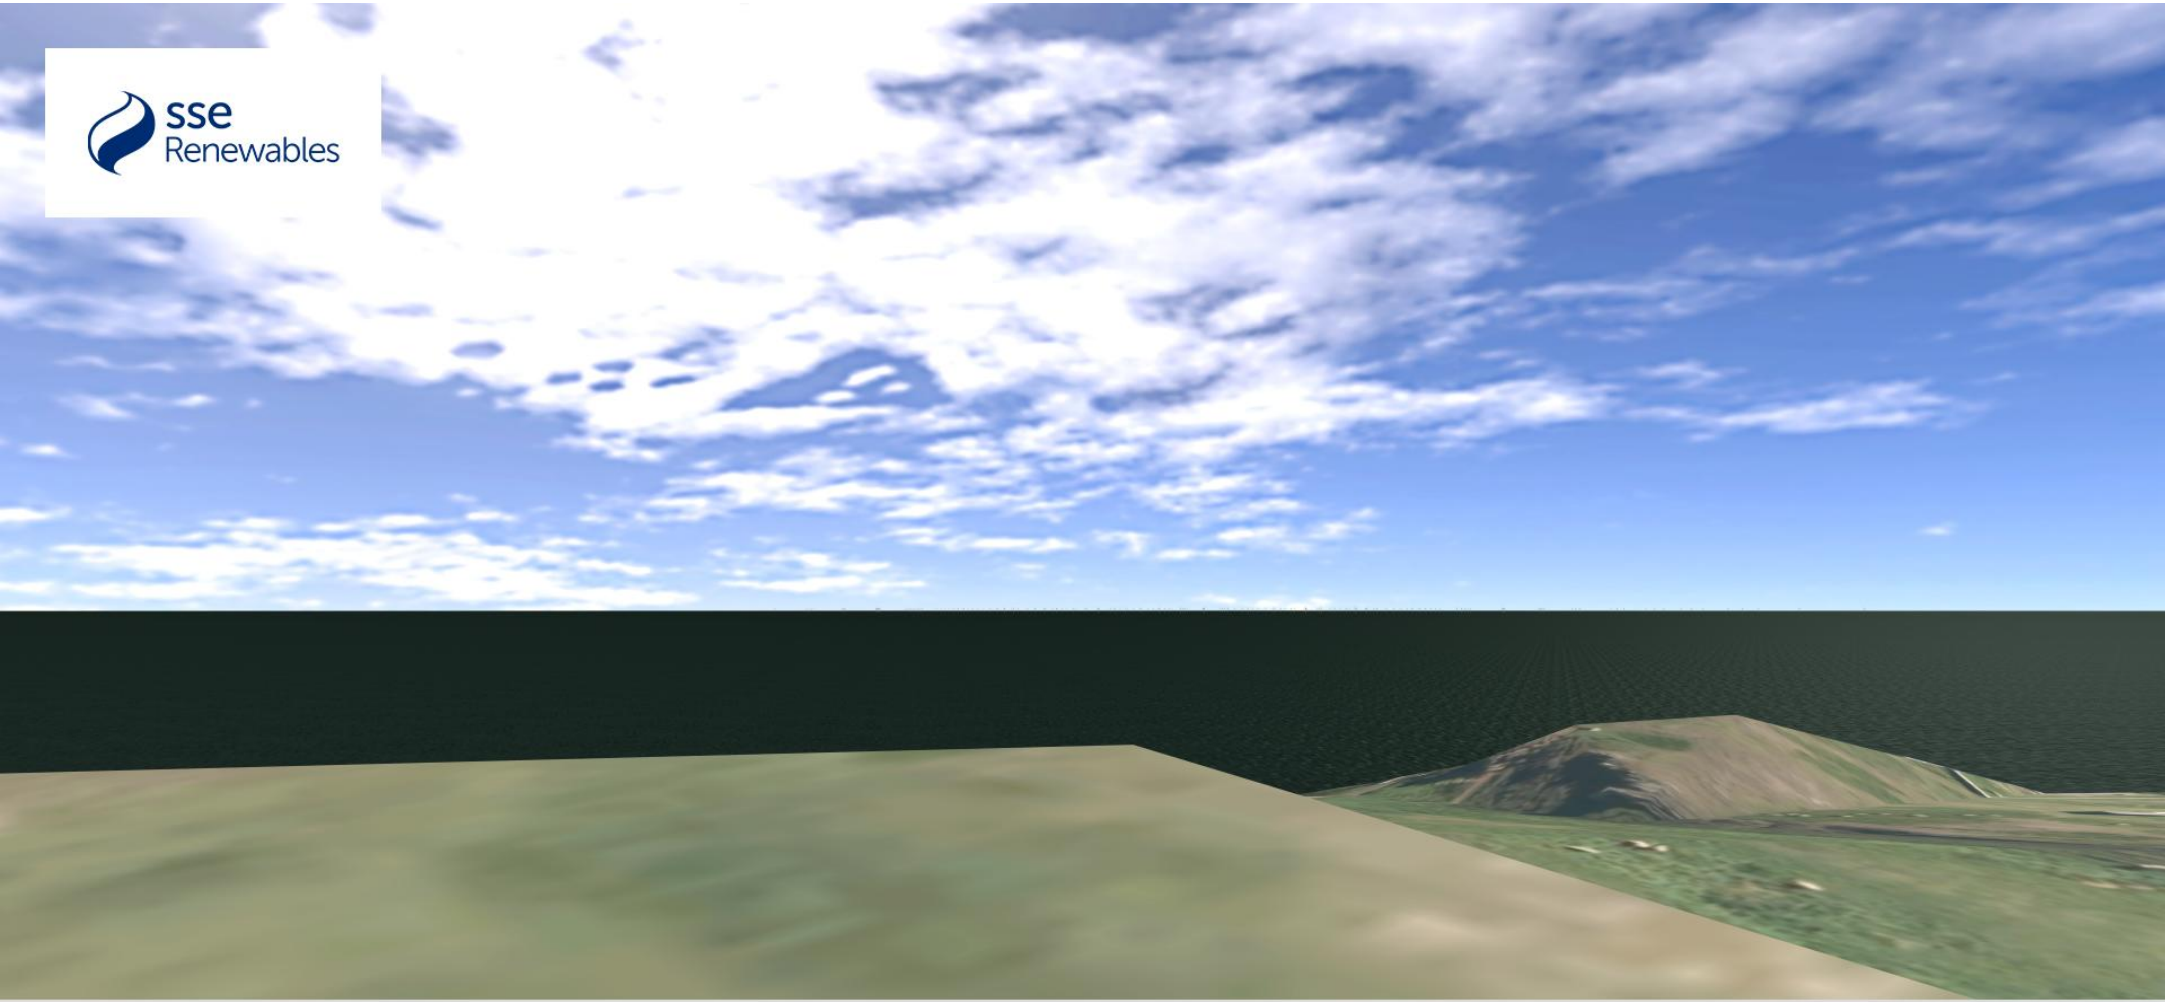

View of substation considerations from a minor road near Thornton

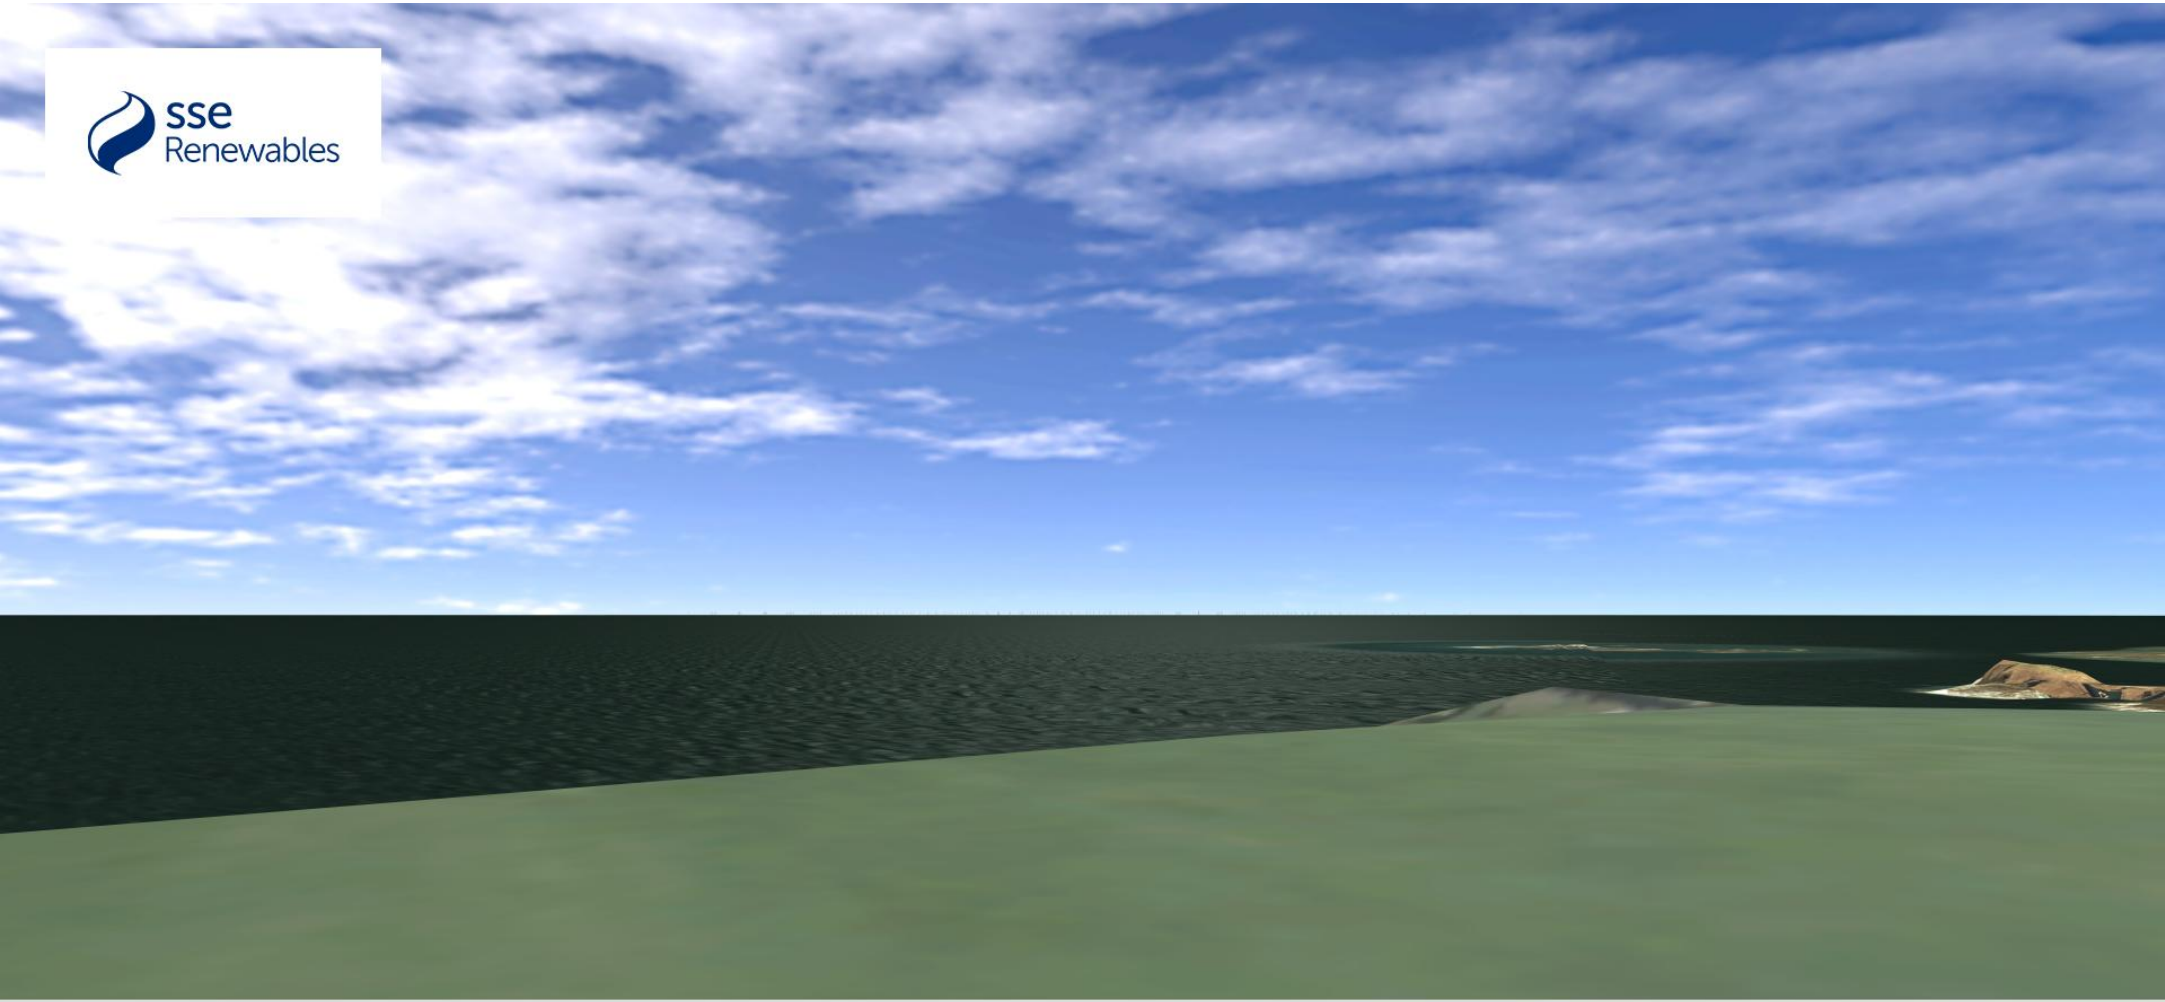

A wide-angle landscape photograph showing a green field in the foreground with shadows cast by turbines. In the distance, a small town or village is visible on a hillside under a blue sky with scattered white clouds. The horizon is flat, suggesting a coastal or rural setting.

View of the offshore turbines and Skateraw substation consideration from a minor road near Thurston

View of the offshore turbines from St Abbs Head

View of the offshore turbines from Tantallon Castle